

Bad
design

Good design

addText of document editor is client side client provide the text with the call of addText method then documenteditor deligate this to document and call adddelement with new docuemement object this object then texelement

